

HON. MARIO DIAZ-BALART

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, January 19, 2022

Mr. DIAZ-BALART. Madam Speaker, I rise today to acknowledge Yordenis Ugás Hernández for his exceptional athletic accomplishments, fierce patriotism, and dedication to the cause of freedom for the Cuban people.

Mr. Ugás said on August 12, 2021, “I’m a fighter not only inside of the ring, but outside of the ring; I fight for the freedom of my people. That’s the most important thing to me. I hope that all those who fight for freedom in Cuba are safe and know that I will fight for them on Saturday, August 21.” He also stated that, “I’m dedicating this fight to all my fellow Cubans fighting for freedom every day. I want to make history for my legacy and for all the Cubans around the world. This will be huge for the entire Latin community.” Mr. Ugás reportedly listened to the pro-freedom Cuban song “Patria y Vida” (“Homeland and Life”) when heading into the ring for the fight, and went on to win that boxing match against longtime champion, Manny Pacquiao. After his historic win, he exclaimed, “Homeland and Life, Homeland and Life, not Homeland or Death,” which is a phrase that has become a mantra for Cuba’s pro-democracy movement.

Mr. Ugás is not just a fighter in the ring; he is a freedom fighter. He survived being sent to a Cuban prison, which was a punishment he endured simply for attempting to escape oppression. He ultimately was able to enter the United States in 2010. Since then, not only has Mr. Ugás thrived in his field, but he has become an inspiration to people seeking freedom all over the world.

Madam Speaker, I admire this talented and spirited athlete who left Cuba, but has never left the Cuban people. He has repeatedly expressed his solidarity with those brave leaders and activists on the island who are risking everything for liberty. Mr. Ugás has inspired a new generation of Cubans both in Cuba and in exile, and I commend him for his fierce dedication and potency—both inside and outside the ring.

PERSONAL EXPLANATIONHON. MADISON CAWTHORN

OF NORTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, January 19, 2022

Mr. CAWTHORN. Madam Speaker, during the process of voting proxy, there was a human error made, which unfortunately reflected a no vote. My vote should have reflected yes.

Had I been present, I would have voted YEA on Roll Call No. 10.

HON. CORI BUSH

OF MISSOURI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, January 19, 2022

Ms. BUSH. Madam Speaker, St. Louis and I rise to offer our deepest condolences to the Polson family and friends on the loss of firefighter Benjamin James Polson, a dear member of our St. Louis community and Engine House 13.

Benjamin Polson was courageous. Every day he went to work with the goal of saving lives, and our St. Louis community is indebted to him for his commitment to that work. As Congresswoman for Missouri’s First District, I am deeply honored to represent Engine House 13, and I, like so many of our neighbors, am forever grateful to Mr. Polson. Like his father, a retired fire captain, and his mother, an elementary school teacher, Mr. Polson lived a life dedicated to the care and service of his community, joining the St. Louis Fire Department in 2019. He will undoubtedly be missed by everyone who loved him, and his legacy will live on through his family, friends, and colleagues. St. Louis will never forget Mr. Polson’s relentless dedication to our city as a first responder.

HONORING THE CAREER OF JAMES RAEBELHON. DAN NEWHOUSE

OF WASHINGTON

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, January 19, 2022

Mr. NEWHOUSE. Madam Speaker, I rise today to express my sincere gratitude, and the gratitude of all Central Washingtonians, to Detective Sergeant James A. Raebel, and to congratulate him on his well-deserved retirement.

During his more than forty years of service with the Pasco Police Department, Det. Sgt. Raebel has truly embodied what it means to “serve and protect”, working as a K-9 handler, an undercover narcotics officer, a detective, and a sergeant. Because of his work, the Pasco community truly was safer.

Without dedicated public servants like Det. Sgt. Raebel, our Republic, which is sustained by a system of law and order, and our very way of life could not endure.

I wish Det. Sgt. Raebel the very best as he enters this next chapter of his life. I commend him on a lifetime of service to his friends, family, and neighbors, and on behalf of all Central Washingtonians, I thank him for his service.

HON. JOE COURTNEY

OF CONNECTICUT

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, January 19, 2022

Mr. COURTNEY. Madam Speaker, I rise today to shine a bright light on the ultimate example of leadership set by a resident of eastern Connecticut’s second district, Debbie MacCoy. For more than six years, Debbie has been on the front lines of the crumbling foundations crisis affecting the State of Connecticut, and now we know, the State of Massachusetts as well. Throughout this crisis, Debbie has acted as a leading figure on the issue, dedicating countless hours in advocacy, education, and communication with local, state, and federal leaders, leading researchers, and international communities impacted by similar crises. Debbie has operated as a volunteer throughout this entire period and will soon retire from her role as one of the pre-eminent community advocates on this issue.

In part due to Debbie’s leadership, hundreds of families have now been able to remain in their home with a remodeled foundation, with thousands more in the pipeline.

Organizing purely from a grassroots level, Debbie left her career of more than 30 years to allow the time necessary to focus on the issue of crumbling foundations. Each week, she has poured through correspondence from homeowners writing to her under duress seeking guidance or assistance.

Madam Speaker, it is an honor to represent constituents as dedicated as Debbie. I have had the privilege of knowing her personally for many years and can attest to her compassion for others and her high ethical standards in the way she conducts herself in the community. If it were not for advocates like her, there would be far fewer solutions available to those affected by this crisis. I am grateful for Debbie’s fierce example of altruism and her decades-long friendship. To that end, I ask that my colleagues in the House join me in memorializing Deborah MacCoy’s efforts, setting them further into stone and thanking her for all those who have benefitted from those efforts. Debbie will forever be a “concrete queen” for Connecticut residents. I thank her.

REMEMBERING LAWRENCE BROOKS, 112-YEAR-OLD WWII VETERANHON. TROY A. CARTER

OF LOUISIANA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, January 19, 2022

Mr. CARTER of Louisiana. Madam Speaker, today I remember Lawrence Brooks of New Orleans, the United States’ oldest living World War II veteran, who was laid down in his eternal resting place on Saturday, January 15, 2022 at the age of 112.

soldiers conducted readiness exercises at home to prepare a response to Germany's invasion of Poland and France.

After his required one-year service, Brooks was originally discharged and returned to New Orleans. However, after the attack on Pearl Harbor he re-enlisted. As he himself put it, after Pearl Harbor, "There was no question" that he would continue his service.

He joined the 91st Engineer Battalion, a unit comprised of 1,193 Black enlisted soldiers and 25 white officers. Soon, the unit boarded a converted ocean liner in New York and headed to the South Pacific.

After an extended voyage due to dodging submarines, the 91st arrived in Queensland, Australia, an Allied Forces defensive base in the war against Japan.

Private First-Class Brooks fondly remembers the Australian people's acceptance of the Black soldiers and the equal treatment they experienced without the specter of segregation.

Without Jim Crow, Brooks made white friends, and attended dance halls, cinemas and hotels freely—freedoms he had never experienced before.

Brooks did not see combat during this deployment, instead serving as a staff member to officers, lieutenants, and captains.

While the white officers ate and lived separately from the Black soldiers, the private said he never experienced discrimination or racism during his service.

Their battalion was also tasked with building several buildings, hospitals, roads, housing, and recreation centers throughout Horn Island, Papua-New Guinea and the Philippines, dodging Japanese bomb raids.

Brooks' unit left the South Pacific in 1944 and he left the service a year later. Many of his stories focus on the positive—a sign of his outlook on life.

He received the Good Conduct Medal, Meritorious Service Medal, and Presidential Unit Medal. He wanted to attend college, but he never received his GI benefits—an injustice tragically felt by many Black veterans of the Second World War. His daughter Vanessa Brooks says that he was also never offered a low-interest bank loan or a reduced down payment for a house.

Asked in late 2021 what he would like his legacy to be, he said, "I would like to be remembered as a strong man. A good soldier." He certainly will be.

Mr. Brooks was a local celebrity, and in 2021 for his 112th birthday he was honored with a drive-through party. He danced on his porch during a serenade serenaded by the World War II museum's musical trio, the Victory Belles.

A military flyover flew above his Central City home in New Orleans.

He loved the New Orleans Saints and spent this past holiday season cheering them on with family.

Mr. Brooks lost his original Army uniform during Hurricane Katrina, but was presented with an authentic reproduction and his old unit's badge last November.

"good soldiers" positivity and zest for life. I know I am.

Rest in God's peace, Lawrence Brooks.

RECOGNIZING MY POSSIBILITIES
FOUNDER AND CHAIRMAN,
CHARMAINE SOLOMON

HON. VAN TAYLOR

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, January 19, 2022

Mr. TAYLOR. Madam Speaker, today, I rise to recognize Mrs. Charmaine Solomon for her nearly fourteen years of dedicated service and leadership as the Founder and Chairman of the Board of My Possibilities, a first-of-its-kind organization serving adults with intellectual and developmental disabilities.

As the mother of a special needs son, Charmaine envisioned a future where her son had access to opportunities following high school that would allow him to grow and discover his full potential. Determined to make her dream a reality, she partnered with two other mothers who shared her same vision—creating an organization whose services would improve not only their children's future, but would also impact the lives of countless North Texans.

Founded in 2008, My Possibilities served as the first full-day, full-year continuing educational program for adults with developmental disabilities in Collin County. Under her steadfast leadership, the organization has worked with over 600 HIPster's—Hugely Important People—equipping them with the tools needed to develop employable skills and live full and independent lives. The college-style campus offers students educational, socialization, and residential opportunities as well as job placement programs in the community.

Throughout Charmaine's tenure, she could regularly be found roaming the halls of the campus, interacting with students, and giving them high-fives and hugs. As a testament to her many efforts and in honor of her dedication, in 2019 the Plano Independent School District named their Adult Transition Center after Charmaine.

In addition to her service with My Possibilities, Mrs. Solomon is a Licensed Professional Counselor, devoted wife, and loving mother of four. She has been an active member of CASA of Collin County for more than eight years and has also volunteered her time working with at-risk youth at CITY House.

Madam Speaker, as Charmaine Solomon begins a new chapter of her life following her final meeting as the longtime Chairman of My Possibilities, I ask my colleagues in the House of Representatives to join me today in honoring her incredible impact in North Texas and the Third Congressional District.

today to recognize and applaud Westminster Fire Chief Doug Hall for his 43 years of service to the City of Westminster and surrounding communities.

For four decades, Chief Hall has been active within the Westminster community and fire department. Chief Hall began his career in 1978 when the City had 18 firefighters, an administrative assistant, and only one of its three fire stations was staffed. The Westminster Fire Department now has 143 employees, with 123 serving in an emergency response capacity from six staffed fire stations.

For the past 10 years, Chief Hall has served as Fire Chief. Under his leadership, Westminster Fire Department earned an ISO Class 1 rating, the Center for Public Safety Excellence's (CPSE) highest accreditation. Less than 300 agencies have received an ISO Class I accreditation nationally. In addition to overseeing the modernization of the department, including upgrading public safety telecommunications systems and other technological upgrades, Chief Hall developed new career pathways for future firefighters through a multi-agency firefighter academy and officer development program.

Outside of the Westminster community, Chief Hall is recognized as a leader in the Colorado firefighting community. He served as President of the Board of Directors for the Adams and Jefferson County Hazardous Materials Response Authority from 2019 to 2021 and represents Colorado municipalities as a member of the Colorado Fire Commission. Chief Hall has been a member of the Westminster Rotary Club for 13 years.

I extend my deepest appreciation for Chief Hall and his service and dedication to our community. I thank him for his continuous dedication to serving the people of Colorado.

HONORING THE RETIREMENT OF THE MAYOR OF DEARBORN,
JOHN B. "JACK" O'REILLY, JR.

HON. DEBBIE DINGELL

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, January 19, 2022

Mrs. DINGELL. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize Former Mayor John O'Reilly on the occasion of his retirement from the City of Dearborn, Michigan, where he has honorably served its citizens in various capacities for past three decades. His significant contributions to our community are worthy of commendation.

Mr. O'Reilly graduated from St. Alphonsus High School in Dearborn, attended Oakland University, and earned his law degree from the University of Detroit. He has been a mainstay in Dearborn and throughout the State of Michigan during his celebrated career in public service and has followed in the footsteps of his father John B. O'Reilly, Sr., who served as Dearborn's fourth mayor. Mr. O'Reilly began his career in public service as staff counsel born after the passing of Mayor Michael Guido and was officially elected to the role in a special election in 2007.

During his tenure as Mayor, Mr. O'Reilly has been a champion for economic growth and development within the city, as well as for improving Dearborn's neighborhoods for all. Under his leadership, downtown was revitalized, and the city has continued to be recognized as a center of culture, industry, and innovation. Mr. O'Reilly was highly involved in many state and community organizations, as the chair of the Downriver Community Conference in 2014, President of the Michigan Municipal League in 2015, and was appointed to the Executive Committee of the Michigan Economic Development Corporation by Governor Rick Snyder in 2016. Ever the advocate for his city, he served on the board of directors for the Dearborn Education Foundation, the West Dearborn Downtown Development Authority, and the East Dearborn Downtown Development Authority. He resides in his beloved Dearborn with his wife Christina, and together they have three children Devon, Sean, and Dylan.

Madam Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in honoring Former Mayor John O'Reilly. We are grateful for his years spent serving the citizens of Dearborn. Personally, I am thankful for Jack's years of friendship, counsel, and advice to my late husband John and I, he is someone who can always be counted on. I join with his family, friends, and colleagues in extending my best wishes to him in retirement.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. GARY J. PALMER

OF ALABAMA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, January 19, 2022

Mr. PALMER. Madam Speaker, I was unable to vote on January 12–13, 2022, due to testing positive for COVID. Had I been present, I would have voted YEA on rollcall No. 4; YEA on rollcall No. 5; NAY on rollcall No. 6; NAY on rollcall No. 7; NAY on rollcall No. 8; and NAY on rollcall No. 9.

H.R. 2930, THE STOP ACT

HON. AUMUA AMATA COLEMAN RADEWAGEN

OF AMERICAN SAMOA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, January 19, 2022

Mrs. RADEWAGEN. Madam Speaker, I rise as an original sponsor of H.R. 2930, The STOP Act, to celebrate the House's passage of this important legislation and to express my disappointment over the fears that led to 57 of my colleagues voting against the bill and will lay out the facts to dispel those fears. The fact is the bill incorporates the concerns of the various stakeholders impacted by the legislation.

comments on the melding of stakeholder concerns were reinforced by Ranking Member WESTERMAN on the House floor when he stated: "I want to thank the sponsor of the legislation for working with stakeholders impacted by this bill, including the Acoma, the Pueblo, the Antique Tribal Art Dealers Association, the Department of the Interior, the Department of Justice, and others." Clearly, there was bipartisan recognition that the concerns expressed by the bill's various stakeholders were legitimate and had to be incorporated into the final product. I am providing here, for the record, the ways in which The STOP Act meets the concerns of all the stakeholders mentioned by Chairwoman LEGER FERNANDEZ and Ranking Member WESTERMAN, which should dispel the fears of those opposed to bill. For starters, the bill does not ban all exports of Native American items as some fear. The bill only prohibits the export of items in violation of NAGPRA and ARPA, no other items for export are prohibited. In fact, the bill clearly states: "an item made solely for commercial purposes is presumed to not qualify as an Item Requiring Export Certification;" while an additional provision specifies that Certification requirements be "sufficiently specific precise to ensure that an export certification is required only for Items Requiring Export Certification." Clearly, the bill provides for a targeted ban on the export of illegal items, not the broad ban opponents fear. The facts dispel the fear that certification provenance requirements would lead to a de-facto export ban given the limited provenance of many items. The fact is the bill explicitly states: "include all available information regarding the provenance," so the bill clearly only requires "available information" and does not require the historical provenance of the item. Finally, opponents fear that The STOP Act placed the burden of proof on the citizen, not the government. In fact, the bill had no need to address this issue. It is a foundational principal of our democratic system of laws and governance that the burden of proof is on the government, not the citizen. In conclusion, I would like to, once again, congratulate the House for passing The Stop Act and urge all to consider these facts.

STANDING IN SOLIDARITY WITH THE MARCH FOR LIFE

HON. VAN TAYLOR

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, January 19, 2022

Mr. TAYLOR. Madam Speaker, today, I rise to stand in solidarity with the many Americans, including my constituents from Texas' Third Congressional District, who are here at our Nation's Capital to march for the right to life.

As a father of three wonderful daughters, I know how precious each life is and I strongly believe it should be protected at every stage.

Every year, I am awed by the outpouring of love and passion so many Texans show by nizing the pro-life and faith leaders here at our Nation's Capital and join us in the fight to protect innocent human life.

SENATE COMMITTEE MEETINGS

Title IV of Senate Resolution 4, agreed to by the Senate of February 4, 1977, calls for establishment of a system for a computerized schedule of all meetings and hearings of Senate committees, subcommittees, joint committees, and committees of conference. This title requires all such committees to notify the Office of the Senate Daily Digest—designated by the Rules Committee—of the time, place and purpose of the meetings, when scheduled and any cancellations or changes in the meetings as they occur.

As an additional procedure along with the computerization of this information, the Office of the Senate Daily Digest will prepare this information for printing in the Extensions of Remarks section of the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD on Monday and Wednesday of each week.
